Funerals Are For The Living

The funeral service is for the living because it enables family and friends to gather to express their feelings. It's a time to pay tribute, reflect on memories, gain strength from others and begin to accept one of life's many changes. A funeral service lets you and those close to you say goodbye and begin the healing process.

Your presence at this funeral is of immeasurable value. You're contributing to a fellowship of support extended to the family and relatives. For them, your attendance is comforting and reassuring. They know that you care and want to acknowledge the life that was lived. By being here, you're helping to make this service a memorable one.

In Remembrance

Psalm 121

I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth. He will not suffer thy foot to be moved; He that keepeth thee will not slumber. Behold, He that keepeth Israel shall neither slumber nor sleep. The Lord is thy keeper: the Lord is thy shade upon the right hand. The sun shall not smite thee by day, nor the moon by night. The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil; He shall preserve thy soul. The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore.

The Twenty-Third Psalm

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul:
He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness
for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil:
for Thou art with me;
Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me
in the presence of mine enemies:
Thou anointest my head with oil;
my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

Visitation from 2 to 4 and 6 to 8 p.m. Friday at the funeral home.

God saw he was getting tired
And a cure was not to be.
So He put His arms around him
And whispered, come with Me.
With tearful eyes we watched him suffer
And saw him fade away.
Although we loved him dearly,
We could not make him stay.
A golden heart stopped beating,
hard working hands to rest.
God broke our hearts to prove to us
He only takes the best.

Tuesday Morning

Dear Susie and family

Thank you for the pretty cards and remembring my birthday

Now if I havn't forgotten Tomorrow is your birthday if it is some other day just remember I am old and forget many things and get a little mixed up sometimes

I wish you a happy day and many returns

I was sure glad to hear from you but sorry to hear you had been here when we was gone. I just stay at home most of the time and as sure as I do go away then somebody comes. You just let me know when you come and I'll surely be here

I am real well if I stay at home all the time but just cant. Stand to run around makes me so tired. I get Terribly lonely at times as I caint do much work

I am counting on getting to the Reunion if it isnt to awful hot. I do want to see you all again.

Now do come and see us. With love and best wishes. Aunt Ara.

A Blessed Christmas

God bless your Christmas season
And all your New Year too
And shower all His favors
From day to day on y·o·u!

"And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh."

44th Wedding Anniversary

February 24, two days before their 44th wedding anniversary, John and Ruby Buchman were relaxing in mid-afternoon, wondering where some of their family were.

Being content with the decision that some had bout with the flu, while others must have other places to go and things to do, when all seven children and their families drove in to surprise them for the occasion with filled baskets of food; cake decorated for the occasion, ice cream and punch were brought by the following: Mr and Mrs Ed Laukhuf, Gary and Lori and guest, Dwight Stoller, of Payne, Mr and Mrs Jim Clark and family, Mr and Mrs Raymond Buchman and family, Mr and Mrs Dick Buchman and family and guest, Colleen Smith, Mr and Mrs Jim Buchman and family, Janice Buchman and guest, Kent McMillen and Martin Buchman.

The only ones in the family unable to attend were a grandson, Dick Laukhuf and fiance, Jean Kast, and granddaughter, Mrs Debra White and husband, Larry.

Roses were presented as a gift from everyone.

After supper, games were played and pictures taken.

RUBY E. BUCHMAN

PAULDING—Mrs. Ruby E. Buchman, 67, Route 1, Paulding, died at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday in the Paulding County Hospital, where she had been a patient a day and a half.

She was born July 25, 1908 in Van Wert, a daughter of Jay and Ara Mae (Reid) Gunderman. She was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, the Altar and Rosary Society, Sisters of the Skillet, and was an employe at Paulding County Hospital, retiring five years ago.

She married John Buchman on Feb. 26, 1930 and he survives, with four sons, Richard and James, Paulding; Raymond, Defiance, and Martin, Fort Wayne; three daughters, Mrs. Edward (Mary) Laukhuf, Payne; Mrs. James (Kathryn) Clark, Paulding, and Mrs. Kent (Janice) McMillen, Van Wert; a sister, Mrs. Nellie Covey, Haviland; three brothers, Walter Gunderman, Van Wert; Donald Gunderman, Paulding, and Forest Gunderman, Grover Hill; 22 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. A son and a daughter are deceased.

Services will be Saturday at 10 a.m. in St. Joseph's Church, Rev. Frederick Schill officiating, and burial will follow in Live Oak Cemetery. Friends may call after 1 p.m. Friday in the Crowell-Den Herder Funeral Home, where a scripture service will be held at 8 p.m. Friday.

To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven:
A time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted;
A time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to break down, and a time to build up;
A time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance;
A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;
A time to get, and a time to lose; a time to keep, and a time to cast away;
A time to rend, and a time to sew; a time to keep silence, and a time to speak;
A time to love, and a time to hate; a time of war, and a time of peace.

Paulding man critical after crash:

Donald A. Buchman, 29, of Paulding remained in critical condition at Lutheran Hospital, Fort Wayne, on Sunday after his car hit a Wayne Trace school bus about 4:40 p.m. Friday. Buchman's wife, Joanna, 30, was treated at Paulding County Hospital and released, along with their two small sons. The Van Wert post of the Ohio State Patrol said the accident occurred when Marjorie Stahl, 56, of Grover Hill drove the bus in front of the Buchmans' car at U.S. 127 and Paulding County Road 60. Stahl was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

Jury awards Ohioan $5 million in bus crash paralyzation

By STEVE BYRNE
Staff Writer

PAULDING — A jury awarded a Paulding man more than $5 million Wednesday for injuries he suffered in a 1989 accident with a Wayne Trace Local School District bus, leaving officials in the small district wondering how the debt will be paid.

The sum of the award is more than the district's 1991-92 budget of about $4 million, Superintendent Steven Keller said.

A check for $982,000 was paid to Donald Buchman on Wednesday, exhausting the district's insurance policy.

An eight-member jury awarded the Paulding resident more than $5.08 million for the 1989 accident that left him a quadriplegic. The jury deliberated more than nine hours in Paulding County Common Pleas Court.

The school district doesn't have the money to cover the award and may ask on the November ballot for a tax increase. The board will discuss ways to pay off the award at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Wayne Trace High School.

Craig Roth, Buchman's attorney, said the sum would primarily cover Buchman's future medical and living expenses.

"I thought (the jury) followed the law, their oath and the evidence," Roth said. "The entire family is pleased — pleased and relieved."

Buchman's wife, Johanna, received $58,702 in the decision.

Though the board of education voted in a special meeting Wednesday night to appeal the verdict, Charles Koch, a member of the district's defense team, said the district will try to tap into state money to help pay the sum.

But the size of the award makes it necessary to consider a tax levy, Keller said.

The deadline for placing an emergency levy on the November ballot is Aug. 14.

Jurors said they did not believe Buchman was "contributorily negligent" in the accident, as the defense had argued.

School district lawyers had admitted negligence on bus driver Marjorie Stahl's part. She was heading west and pulled the empty school bus into the intersection of County Road 60 and U.S. 127 without seeing Buchman, who was traveling south on U.S. 127.

The defense claimed Buchman was not only exceeding the speed limit but should have braked earlier to avoid the accident.

When computing Buchman's future expenses, the jury also rejected defense claims that he had only one or two years to live, Roth said.

A combination of factors influenced the jury's decision, said juror Bernadyne Rogers.

"I think it was more a variety," Rogers said. "The mere fact that he was a quadriplegic was an important factor in it."

Its Insurance Didn't Cover All Of a Paralyzed Man's Bills; Will the Band Play On?

By JUNE KRONHOLZ
Staff Reporter of THE WALL STREET JOURNAL

PAYNE, Ohio – On Sept. 1, 1989, a Blue Bird bus from the local Wayne Trace School District pulled across U.S. Route 127, into the path of Donald Buchman's station wagon.

Mr. Buchman was left a quadriplegic by the collision. Now, the taxpayers of Payne—and Scott, Latty and a dozen other tiny farm villages – are going to the polls on May 6 to decide whether to increase their property taxes for the next 25 years because of his injuries. Or to impoverish the school system that lies close to the heart of this little nook of rural America.

"It's just so sad," says Anna Brewster, publisher of the local newspaper, the Paulding Progress.

Yes, everyone here agrees, so sad.

Insurance Adjustments

The accident that crippled Mr. Buchman happened on a bright clear afternoon at the very start of the school year. The bus driver testified she never saw Mr. Buchman's car when she pulled in front of it at the end of her run. Mr. Buchman, then 29 years old, a $9.10-an-hour construction worker, and the father of two young sons, broke his neck on impact.

State Farm Insurance Cos. paid him $1 million, which was all the liability insurance that Ohio insurers would let the school district buy at the time. Three years after the accident, a jury in Paulding—Mr. Buchman's home, 12 miles northeast of Payne – awarded him $5.1 million in compensatory damages.

The Wayne Trace School District covers 178 square miles of northwestern Ohio farmland. And $5.1 million is what it spends in a year to educate 1,300 children in three schools, from prekindergarten through grade 12.

The school district appealed the judgment but then, to be on the safe side, it appealed to its voters. Ohio's 611 school districts are independent authorities that don't follow county boundaries – which is why Payne is in the Wayne Trace district, but Paulding, the Paulding County seat, isn't. The state gives the districts $3,500 for every child they enroll, an allocation it calls the Foundation Grant. To top that off, school districts can issue bonds and can tax property and income.

Voting No

In 1992, the Wayne Trace district asked its voters to pay off the Buchman judgment by approving a 5.7 mill tax increase – an increase equal to $5.70 on every $1,000 of the assessed value of their homes. In the largest voter turnout in a decade, Wayne Trace rejected the tax increase by 2,458 votes to 319.

Wayne Trace School Superintendent Ken Doseck now says the tax vote was designed to show the state that the district couldn't pay the judgment. But Ohio was disinclined to help with a settlement either, and so the matter meandered through the appeals courts.

Meanwhile, Mr. Buchman spent a year in hospitals, which ate up his insurance money twice over, he says, and then went back to school. He used a voice-activated computer to write his papers and a battery-operated page turner for his books – a fly-wheel contraption he operated by blowing through a straw. He earned a 4.0 grade-point average and, in 1995, a degree in social work from nearby Defiance College.

But entry-level social-work jobs

d I

simply am not able to do that," Mr. Buchman says. So, unemployed, he does volunteer work, teaches Sunday school, is on the board of his church. He negotiated deferred payments on his medical bills, borrowed "everything I can from everyone I know." His wife, Johanna, also a social worker, supports the family.

Growing Interest

Mr. Buchman's case against the school district finally came to life again on Nov. 1, 1995, when the Ohio Supreme Court awarded him $4.9 million – lower than the original $5.1 million judgment, but with interest of $1,057.31 a day until the judgment is paid.

Mr. Doseck, the school superintendent hired only two months before that decision with a mandate to resolve what he calls "this cloud of uncertainty," launched a letter-writing campaign in the schools. For months, while the interest accumulated, Wayne Trace kids and their parents deluged legislators and bureaucrats in Columbus. "All of us hoped the state would pick up 100%, but that was not going to happen," says Mr. Doseck, a former high-school principal who speaks of the case with the same weary sadness as Mr. Buchman.

Instead, the Ohio budget office in February offered a compromise: It would advance Wayne Trace the money to pay off the judgment but would require partial repayment by withholding, over the next 25 years, some of the Foundation Grant it provides the Wayne Trace schools.

The deal still must be approved by the state legislature as part of the 1998 budget.

Coffee Shop down U.S. Route 127, $30.63 still buys dinner for six—meatloaf, mashed equal to a new teacher's weekly pay.

Mr. Doseck plans a voter-education campaign, pointing out that it will be the schools, and not Mr. Buchman, that will have their cash cut if the tax increase is rejected. But "everybody hates taxes," observes Ms. Brewster, the newspaper publisher, and no one is willing to predict the outcome.

Mr. Buchman says he supposes "there are individuals, people who don't understand the situation, who have some animosity toward me." The years of litigation, the big judgment, the drain on the schools – they strain neighborliness. But "Donald Buchman is not a villain," says Steven Miller, the school district's lawyer. "Nor do I think the district is a villain."

No, everyone here agrees, it's just so sad.

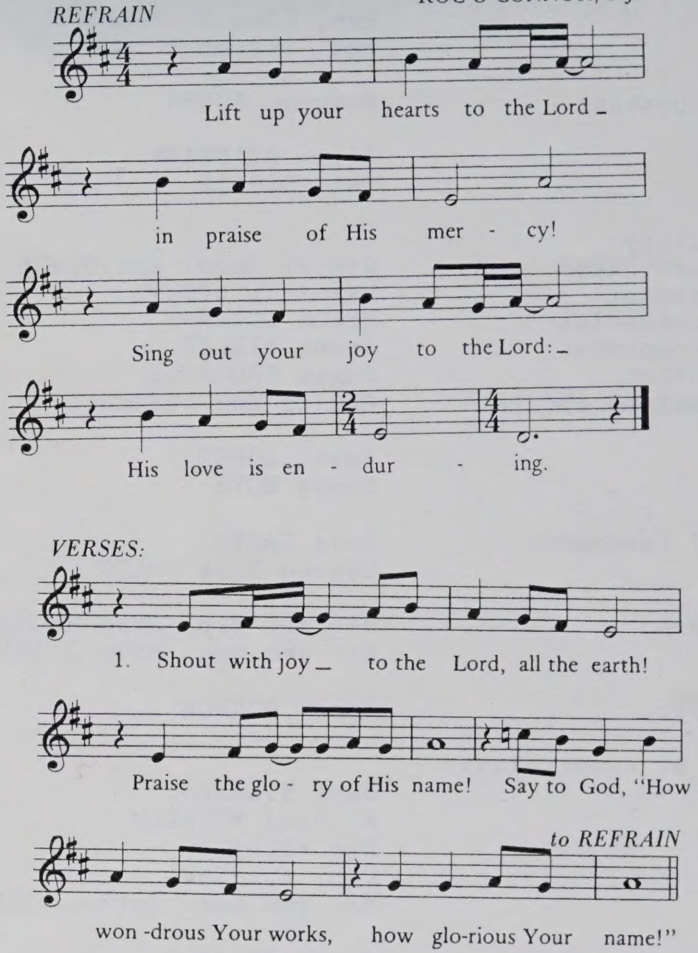
CLOSING SONG

Lift Up Your Hearts

ROC O'CONNOR, S.J.



REFRAIN
Lift up your hearts to the Lord
in praise of His mer - cy!
Sing out your joy to the Lord:
His love is en - dur - ing.
VERSES:
1. Shout with joy to the Lord, all the earth!
Praise the glo - ry of His name! Say to God, "How won-drous Your works, how glo-rious Your name!"
to REFRAIN

2. Let the earth worship, singing Your praise.
Praise the glory of Your name!
Come and see the deeds of the Lord!
Come, worship His name!

3. At His touch the dry land did appear;
Paths were opened in the sea,
Let the earth rejoice in His might,
The might of His love.

4. Listen now all you servants of God,
As I tell of His great works.
Blessed be the Lord of my life!
His love shall endure!

Her Journey's Just Begun

Don't think of her as gone away -
her journey's just begun,
life holds so many facets -
this earth is only one.

Just think of her as resting from the sorrows and the tears in a place of warmth and comfort
where there are no days and years.

Think how she must be wishing that we could know today
how nothing but our sadness can really pass away.

And think of her as living in the hearts of those she touched... for nothing loved is ever lost -
and she was loved so much.

Father, remember Donald, your son and our brother. In Baptism he died with Christ; may he also share His Resurrection when Christ will raise our mortal bodies and make them like His own in glory. Welcome into Your kingdom all our departed brothers and sisters and all who have left this world in Your friendship. There we hope to share in your glory where every tear will be wiped away. On that day we shall see You, our God, as You are. We shall become like You and praise You forever through Christ our Lord, from whom all good things come.

Welcome into Your kingdom all our departed brothers and sisters and all who have left this world in Your friendship. There we hope to share in your glory where every tear will be wiped away. On that day we shall see You, our God, as You are. We shall become like You and praise You forever through Christ our Lord, from whom all good things come.
